Body

How many times a day do you think 'I could do this much faster / smarter / better if only I had the right IT'? How many workarounds do you use because your IT doesn't do quite what you need? Come to this interactive session and tell us about your experiences and suggestions - and find out how GDS is showcasing a different way of delivering IT to the civil service, by introducing a new Cabinet Office IT service that's about enabling people to work smartly, the way that suits them.
